Hurd that Before: In just his first game of the 2008-09 season, Louis Hurd is already tearing up the stats sheet. He came one point shy of tying his career-high of 16 points and his 15.0 point per game average leads the team. Also be sure to check out a blog of Louis' adventures this season on NCAA.com.

From Turf to Hardwood: Jared Jenkins has transitioned his game from the turf at Community Stadium to the Quandt Fieldhouse quite nicely. In five games this season, Jenkins is averaging 9.0 points per game in just over 16 minutes on the floor. He was a perfect 7-7 last week against Edgewood, scoring a career-high 16 points in the Pointers 30-point victory.

Movin' On Up: Pete Rortvedt currently stands at 1,196 career points, moving past Jack Krull on the all-time list in the win over Edgewood. Next up on the list is Mike Harrison, who boasts total of 1,221 for his career.

High Percentage: Matt Moses ranks sixth in the NCAA in free throw percentage, converting on 96.3 percent of his attempts this season (26 of 29). Matt set a school record earlier this season converting on 35 straight attempts from the free throw line before missing at Elmhurst.

Chart Toppers: UW-Stevens Point sits in the top-10 of the D3hoops.com poll for the fourth consecutive week, bringing home a No. 5 ranking for the second straight week. The Pointers were the only top-5 team to keep their place in the poll after a mix-up at the top has moved UW-Platteville into No. 1, followed by Wheaton (Ill.), St. Thomas and Washington Univ. That set's up another epic showdown between the Pointers and Pioneers on Jan. 10 in Platteville.

Old Timers: The two opponents this week have some history with the Pointers. UWSP first played Carroll in 1910 and the Pointers have faced the Pioneers just 13 times in that span. On the other hand, the Titans are the Pointers oldest known foe, with the series dating back to 1899. The Pointers and Titans have faced each other 191 times over the years, with UW-Stevens Point holding the 108-83 advantage.
